

LEMBERG

Integrity. Service. Expertise.

A professional organization dedicated to its community and customers through quality innovative solutions, expressed with individual pride and company spirit.

Lemberg Mission Statement

One company. Five ways to serve you.

At Lemberg, we believe craftsmanship and collaboration generate the very best in customized solutions. That's the kind of high-quality, full-service that has built our reputation since 1928.

With five divisions, there's more efficiency, more expertise, and more experience committed to the detailed coordination of your project.

You get the power of our past and the technology of today.

We get the job done right.

It's what we do.

SERVICE

Consider us your safety net.

Our electricians are trained and certified through the highly regarded Joint Apprenticeship Training Program, and they are required to fulfill annual training on codes, safety and technology. That means your project is in good hands.

Our technical services include customized solutions to support programmable logic controls, machine and process control wiring, grounding and building issues, lighting protection systems and more.

We use the latest technology in infrared scanning, ultrasonic testing, and power quality analysis to alert you to potential issues and mitigate the risks of downtime. We'll provide preventive maintenance suggestions so you can avoid issues before your warranty runs out.

That's just a little thing we like to call "service."

Personal. Prompt. 24 hours a day.

"The quality of the work performed by your staff is excellent and inspections are scheduled in a professional manner. Based on my experience, I would recommend Lemberg."

— David Henson, Building Inspector, Village of Shorewood

SIGNS

Care

Signs. Essential to success.

No matter where you are in your business development, our award-winning designers will work with you to create a sign that helps your customers find you above the competition. That kind of visibility allows you to build your brand and instill confidence and trust in your customers.

Whether it's a monument or architectural sign, channel letters or an electronic message center, we'll work with you to find the right type of sign for your brand.

Have a challenging location? Our team of gravity-defying, rappelling installers can tackle it. And, with a team of certified electrical technicians, we'll make sure your sign is maintained so your brand leaves a lasting impression for years to come.

We think your brand deserves that kind of attention.

Designed. Created. Installed.

"We are so happy with the ... signs that Lemberg Electric provided for our new Corporate Office building and West Allis branch. Skip and Ramona were extremely organized, professional, and easy to work with. The complete process from design concept to installation went extremely smooth ... We would highly recommend Lemberg Electric for future sign projects."

– Laura Longston, Director of Marketing, Hein Electric Supply Company

Partners in powerful scalability.

The reliability of your security, surveillance, fire alarm, wireless and data systems is crucial. You need the latest technology and a partner you can trust. Our data communications team of certified professionals will work with you to develop strategies and build a reliable and efficient network.

We'll put our experience and expertise to work for you, crafting forward-thinking, flexible solutions that will keep your business safe, secure and scalable so you'll be ready for future growth.

A custom, optimal, lasting solution backed by a warranty and maintenance schedule — that will put your mind at ease.

Engineered. Customized. Connected.

“Wendy is the consummate project manager ... I have the utmost confidence that anything [Roy] takes on would be done to our satisfaction without the need for any oversight ... All projects they have undertaken for the Art Museum have been completed on time, within budget and completely to our satisfaction.”

— Praveen Krishnamurti, Chief Experience Officer, Milwaukee Art Museum

DATA COMM

The future is here.

What if you could predict the future? Well, now you can.

Lemberg's Energy Technology division offers Infrared Scanning and Power Quality Monitoring that detect potential hazards, electrical hot spots and inefficiencies before they cause issues. That means more safety and less of everything else — less wasted energy, less repair costs, less annoying interruptions and outages.

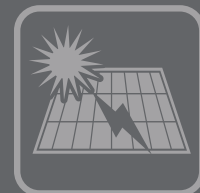

Our engineers will partner with you to analyze your unique situation and give you an efficient solution that might include power-harnessing alternative energy technology.

That's good news for today and tomorrow.

Certified. Limitless. Energy.

“Tim’s electrical substation knowledge and competence gives us ...
the confidence knowing that Tim’s crews work in the utmost electrically safe environment and things will be identified and repaired on the spot.”

– Lemberg Energy Technology and Service customer

ENERGY TECH

CONCRETE

A reputation for reliability.

Reputation is everything. For nearly a century, we've been one of southeastern Wisconsin's largest and most trusted electrical contractors, helping to shape the skyline with landmark buildings and providing the community with state-of-the-art electrical engineering.

Our electrical construction team commands technical tools like Building Information Modeling (BIM), ACAD MEP, REVIT and Accubid to customize solutions that fit your budget. We're leveraging our extensive field experience and design-build capabilities to combine ideas from engineers, designers, installers and CAD operators. You get reliable electrical design and integrated project coordination for an issue and waste free result.

We think that just makes good sense.

Design. Build. Complete.

"Our experience with Lemberg Electric was above average, primarily because of the crew and the head of the Lemberg team – Jason. Jason was always willing to stop his work, answer any questions, explain aspects of the project, etc. I found him and his team to be very professional, quick to reply to email/text/phone, and courteous ... I would recommend Jason and his team!"

– Southbrook Church Staff

CONSTRUCTION

Dedicated to community. Performing with pride.

Lemberg is known for its uncompromising service and value — the very best in turnkey solutions, combining innovation, technology and experience.

You get certified technicians, the highest safety standards and results that exceed expectations.
